Section 107(d) defines the principle of ‘Iroij im jela’ to mean that a decision of the Iroijlaplap [Iroijedrik] is entitled to the greatest weight in evidence and is presume to be reasonable, proper, and in accordance with customary law and traditional practice, unless it is established by clear and convincing evidence that it is not. The principle of ‘Iroij im jela’ shall be applied consistently in all cases where succession to the title, right and interest in and to land is in question or dispute.

Procedure for Invoking Jurisdiction. A party wishing to invoke the jurisdiction of the Traditional Rights Court shall in the party’s complaint or the answer or other response pleading, or by written motion filed at any time after the commencement of the action and not later than 21 days after service of the last pleading, apply for certification of one or more questions to the TRC for resolution (“Application”). In such Application a party shall specify the questions that the party wants certified, and any other party may, within 21 days after such application, move that other questions also be certified. The failure of a party to timely move for certification shall constitute a waiver of trial of such issues by the TRC. However, the High Court, upon a showing of excusable neglect or good cause, may extend the time for filing an Application.
